A DAY DURING THE EPIDEMIC.

All the desolating influences of the epidemic continue, we regret to have it to state, says th New Orleans Delta of the 3d inst., in unmiti gated force. The avenues leading to the city cometeries continue, from early morning til day's latest hour, an unbroken succession funeral trains. The shaking of the black plume of hearse after hearse, as it lumbers along with its lifeless occupant, the victim of a few hours sickness, seems to admonish the healthy and the quick of how sudden is the transition from vigor and life to death and the grave!

What a pervading picture of sorrow, sick mortality, is there around us! All, e epidemic's death doings. Everyfootsteps of the destroying auge may be traced. There is the young widow wnose bridal ties had been suddenly sundered ere her first marriage moon had waned-there now is she, instead of being attired in joy's robes of spotless whiteness, diessed in her sabl suit of wo. The craped arm of almost every man one meets tells of the sudden dissolution of some lamented brother, linked with th wearer in fellowship's bonds, whose warp and woof are-friendship, love, and truth.

Let us paint the sorrowing panorama of on day. See that poor widowed Irishwoman Solitary and alone she follows the hearse fur-nished by public charity, in which is the corper of her husband, to the Potter's Field. How plaintive her cry! how painfully sincere he

"O wirra sthrue," she says, or rather sings in her own peculiar, plaintive, and naturally in her own peculiar, plaintive, and naturally poetic style of lamentation—

"O wire sthrue, was it for this

That I crossed with you the salt says!
O, sure if we stied and even starved at home, Wouldn't the praist say mass for your sowl, And wouldn't the neighbors city at your wake.
O shiek, a cushle if the fayer took me, Wouldn't I in death be happy by your side; But now, your Rose's heart you've left to wither Far away from the bush on which it grew."

So she continued her monody, heedless of where she was, and not carrier who heard her where she was, and not caring who heard her till she passed from our sight turning up the Bayou road. She was unaccompanied by a human being, save the negro who slowly drove the hearse; and had Sterne, or My Uncle Toby, seen that honest son of Africa, it would be no longer a question of doubt with him, if the negro have a scul? The big tears of that man who would raise his hand against that trickled down the round, black, polished theek of that poor fellow, on hearing the stricken Irishwoman's song of sorrow, settle

But who is this man whom we meet now that steps quick and unlike almost every one else that one sees; has a bustling, business kind of air about him? It is the undertaker. Business with him is at its briskest point Death mows down an abundant crop, and he garners the gains. His hay, he feels, is not while the sun shines, but while the clouds of mortality lower over the city; and he improves the occasion, as perhaps he should, to swell the profits of his business.

ROTHER'S UNRIVALLED MINERAL WATER

CORNER OF GREEN AND OLIVE STS, GEORGETOWN, D. C.

GEORGETOWN, D. C.

I TAKE this occasion thus publicly to return my thanks to the citizens of Georgetown, Wash ington and Alexandris, for their kind appreciation of the MINERAL WATER, manufactured by me, which proves that the recommendations of the Medical Faculty to the public in relation to its purity, excellence, and unsurpassable superiority, are universally approved of, which general acknowledges that of my fellow-citizens, puts me in such an elevated position, that the calumnious and jealous extentions of a certain man, need no reply on my part.

My Establishment is open for every scientific gentlemas, who takes an interest in the meiter.

I take great pleasure in laying before the public sgain the Certificate of some of the most eminest Physicians of the District.

Physicians of the District.

(Geonestrows, June 16, 1847.

We, the undersigned, physicians, have, at the invitation of Mr. J. Rother, carefully examined his Mineral Water Establishment, and take pleasure in pronouncing our entire satisfaction with his superior arrangements.

The apparatus and bottling machine annexed, is a production of the latest American invention, seconstructed as to ensure a full and perfect saturation gas to a degree heretore unknown to us.

The water used for its manufacture is pure and wholesome, and the care taken in the process, as well as the cleanliness pervading the whole establishment, meets with our entire approbation, and induces us to recommend it to the public, as a very superior and healthy article.
